

[Read now] The Best American Travel Writing 2015 (The Best American Series)

The Best American Travel Writing 2015 (The Best American Series)

From Mariner Books
*audiobook / ebooks / Download PDF / ePub / DOC

 Download

 Read Online

#179675 in Books 2015-10-06 2015-10-06 Original language: English PDF # 1 8.25 x 1.04 x 5.50l, .70 #File Name: 0544569644384 pages | File size: 68.Mb

From Mariner Books : The Best American Travel Writing 2015 (The Best American Series) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Best American Travel Writing 2015 (The Best American Series):

3 of 3 people found the following review helpful. Pleasureable and PoignantBy Book Bag LadyEvery year I look forward to this series. It makes for pleasureable winter reading for an armchair traveler. This year was no exception. It was a bit of a surprise, though, to discover the author of "21st Century Limited" to be so left-leaning as these essays tend to be apolitical. "Berlin Nights" was an eye-opener and "Tales of Trash" took me on a fascinating journey through the streets of Cairo. The final essay, "Soul of the South" is a poignant tale of a road trip through the rural South. It was beautifully written with insight and love. It was my favorite. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Always Good Stories By Mark Price I enjoy these books every year. Good stories and if you don't like one you can always move on to the next. Not like being stuck with a 400 page novel. Not travel guidebooks for tourists. But good stories about various places and people around the world. Great books for a plane ride or the beach. 2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Very good collection By Renee St. Louis Did not know what to expect, but McCarthy chose well. He has earned his second career, and could clearly have made it his primary path. Pieces on the middle east mix with fluff about hotel sex, and it all works. Up there with Kincaid and Mayes for readability and flow of the selections.

In his introduction, guest editor Andrew McCarthy says that the best travel writing is the anonymous and solitary traveler capturing a moment in time and place, giving meaning to his or her travels. The stories in The Best American Travel Writing 2015 demonstrate just that spirit, whether it is the story of a marine returning to Iraq a decade after his deployment, a writer retracing the footsteps of humanity as it spread from Africa throughout the world, or looking for love on a physics-themed cruise down the Rhone River. No matter what the subject, the writers featured in this volume boldly call out, Yes, this matters. Follow me!

From the Back Cover The Best American Series In his introduction, guest editor Andrew McCarthy says that the best travel writing is the anonymous and solitary traveler capturing a moment in time and place, giving meaning to his or her travels. The stories in The Best American Travel Writing 2015 demonstrate just that spirit, whether it is the story of a marine returning to Iraq a decade after his deployment, a writer retracing the footsteps of humanity as it spread from Africa throughout the world, or looking for love on a physics-themed cruise down the Rhone River. No matter what the subject, the writers featured in this volume boldly call out, Yes, this matters. Follow me! The Best American Travel Writing 2015 includes Iris Smyles, Paul Theroux, Christopher Solomon Patricia Marx, Kevin Baker, Benjamin Busch, Maud Newton Gary Shteyngart, Paul Salopek, and others ANDREW MCCARTHY, guest editor, is the author of the New York Times best-selling travel memoir The Longest Way Home. He has served as an editor at large at National Geographic Traveler and been named travel journalist of the year by the Society of American Travel Writers. He is also an actor and director. JASON WILSON, series editor, is the author of Boozehound: On the Trail of the Rare, the Obscure, and the Overrated in Spirits and the digital wine series Planet of the Grapes. He has written for the Washington Post, the Boston Globe, the Philadelphia Daily News, and many other publications. He is the founding editor of The Smart Set and Table Matters. "About the Author ANDREW MCCARTHY, guest editor, is the author of the New York Times best-selling travel memoir The Longest Way Home. He has served as an editor at large at National Geographic Traveler and been named travel journalist of the year by the Society of American Travel Writers. He is also an actor and director.