Julie Aronson : The Cincinnati Wing: Story Of Art In the Queen City (Ohio Bicentennial) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Cincinnati Wing: Story Of Art In the Queen City (Ohio Bicentennial):

In March 2003, The Cincinnati Art Museum will celebrate the opening of the Cincinnati Wing: eighteen thousand square feet of handsomely renovated gallery space devoted to the museum's renowned collections of painting, sculpture, furniture, ceramics, and metalwork by Cincinnati artists. The museum is the first in the country to reinterpret its American art collections with a regional emphasis, fostering civic pride and drawing attention to the achievements of the city's artists. In conjunction with the celebration, Ohio University Press is proud to publish The Cincinnati Wing: The Story of Art in the Queen City, showcasing one of America's foremost art centers of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. The authors of this collection trace the thematic arrangement of the Cincinnati Wing galleries, situating the artwork in the context of the city's history as it progressed from a frontier river town to an industrial powerhouse. The Cincinnati Wing provides a vivid picture of the fertile social and cultural climate that produced such prominent figures in the history of American art as sculptor Hiram Powers and painters Robert S. Duncanson, Frank Duveneck, and John H. Twachtman. C

"The objects created since the city's founding in 1788... demonstrate the pivotal role that the city has played in the history of American art." - Anita J. Ellis, director of curatorial affairs, Cincinnati Art Museum
